“An exceptional event where all eyes are focused on optometrists”

The Center for Retina and Macular Disease proudly presented the 2nd annual innovative symposium, uniquely developed to address the important role optometrists can play in identifying and managing retinal diseases. The nationally-renowned faculty who established this symposium realized the importance of educating optometrists to assist in this specialized arena. With this in mind, they created a high-quality, broad-spectrum professional development event designed specifically for the optometric community.

The Florida Retina Symposium was held on September 26-28, 2008 for the second year in a row at the beautiful Omni Orlando Resort at ChampionsGate. Participating optometrists once again took part in educational retina classes and will had opportunities to enjoy some of Florida’s finest amenities, including golf, tennis, pool side relaxation, dining, dancing and much more!
